SECOND EDITION.

NEW SERIES, NO. 31-CRITIC SERIES, No. 6,327

Single Copy By Mail, per mouth, postage paid......40 Cents By Mail, per year, postage paid..... $4.50 WASHINGTON, NOVEMBER 19, 1888,

IT IS QUITE THE "fad" among Republicans in Washington to send notices to quit to Democratic officials. Ordinarily they are anonymous. For four months yet there are some Republicans in Washington (in office) who car afford to be "too almighty sassy." After March 4 they can do pretty much as they please.

SEVENTY-FIVE POSTMASTERSHIPS are vet to be filled by President Cleveland. There will be plenty of men to take the places. Even a smell of a Government office is enough to set some men crazy.

Eugene Higgins wants to have his old place back again for just thirty days after Harrison's inauguration. He would cut off the heads of Republican holdovers and bounce every Democrat in office. If there is one thing that Gene stands not in reverence of, it is civil service reform, and if he had a chance he would certainly make the fur fly.

As one of the most liberal newspaper advertisers in this country, we are in favor of giving John Wannamaker of Philadelphia an honorable position under the Harrison administration, Advertising pays.

JOE BLACKBURN calls on the Lord to apologize to mankind for creating a man like Judge Rucker of Denver. The Judge is a fighting man and if he does'n't call the Kentucky Senator out for this the impression will grow that the apology is due to mankind as asked for by Mr. Blackburn.

A PITTSBURG Woman, Miss De Cheyre, is taking the field against the trustees of Gerard College, Philadelphia, for permitting religious teachings in that institution. Miss De Cheyre might be in a great deal better business. It is bad enough when a man attacks religion, but when a woman does it it is like pulling the cross up by the roots. An irreligious woman is a sort of a misfit.

MRS, SHAW, the whistling wonder, has been granted a divorce from her husband. What is this adage about whistling women and crowing hens?

THE PHILADELPHIA Press wants Joe Chamberlain as Minister to the United States vice Sackville. We raise our voice for Randolph Churchill first, last and all the time. Let the campaign begin!

KENTUCKY WOMEN have long been famous and two at Henderson, in that State, are keeping up the record, as far as they are concerned. They have confessed to stabbing an old man and knocking him in the head with an axe, and then making assurance doubly sure by driving a butcher knife through his heart with a hatchet.

THE PHILADELPHIA Press has been sending its reporters out among the bakers to see how they meet the rise in flour. Out of 125 pound loaves of bread bought at different places, 115 were short in weight, some as much as six ounces. A great many bakers had no scales. There is a fine of $10 for selling under weight, or having no scales, and the bakers of Philadelphia are a little nervous just now.

IF MR. BLAINE is to be kept out of the Harrison Cabinent a burglar-proof lock must be put on the door.

THE RETURNS Indicate that the Republieans will have from five to seven majority with which to organize the House. Following the precedents of all political parties who have organized the House by a close vote, it is a fair presumption that the Republican majority will be considerably increased through the reports of its Committee on Elections within a short time after the Fifty-first Congress

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY will not steal any "Democratic thunder." It will raise thunder some other way.

THE REPUBLICANS will probably have five to seven majority with which to organize the House in the Fifty-first Congress. Following the general precedents of all parties under similar circumstances, it is fair to assume that the Republican majority will be considerably increased by the reports of the House Committee on Elections soon after the new Congress organizes.

CLEVELAND'S PLURALITY in Virginia is 1,586. A change of 800 voters would have given the twelve electoral votes of this ancient Commonwealth of Presidents to the Republican candidate. "The sun do move."

A Poculiar Divorce Case.

A divorce case of peculiar interest has just been ended to Buffalo, N. Y. Unusual circumstances in the story are a marria ge under a false nam e and the fact that the husband, the defendant in the action, led a dual life, ran two establishments, bad two wives, two famflies, and kept up the deception for three years. Five years ago John F. Koippel, a horse trainer and driver by profession, married Carrie E. Miller, taking the name of Joseph L. Ranstead and giving his residence as Richester.

The brids must have known of the deception for she had known Koippel for sometime, but she offered no objection. Three years went by and two children were born. Koippel was absent a good deal from bome, giving as a reason his business as a driver. Two years ago Mrs. Koippel discovered that her business was missing with another woman as

WASHINGTON CHIT-CHAT.

A Washington "Jack, the Ripper." People are speculating on the possibillty of our having an emulator of Whitechapel's "Jack, the Ripper," here in Washington. The bill-boards about the city are profusely ornamented with life-sized pictures of scantily-clothed women in tights. Most of these are women in tights. Most of these are idealized representations of theatrical artists, but there is a goodly number of pictures representing a blonde in a necessarily abreviated costume, consisting of very realistic flesh tights and bracelets, riding a bicycle and smoking a certain brand of lung-destroying cigarettes.

These pictures have so outraged the sensibilities of our "Jack, the Ripper," that he has mutilated scores of them in the stilly early morning hours, and now the mutilated representation of an outre-looking woman in tights meets one's eyes on every bill-board.

The mutilations seem to have been done with a sharp knife, and so far the fiendish imitator of the Whitechapel murderer has eluded the police, despite the numerous offers on small yellow bills of $5 reward for his detection and con-

Mr. Chamberlain Steals a March. The way in which Mr. Chamberlain eluded the newspaper men on leaving the city after his wedding demonstrates a shrewdness that shows his rank in the world is descrived. It was generally understood that on leaving the Endicott mansion Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain would be driven directly to the B. & P. railway station and then leave for the North. Of course no one approached Mr. Chamberlain and asked him about it. The officials at the railway station knew nothing about it. No special ac-commodations had been engaged from the Pullman car office. The 3:40 train upon which it was announced the party would leave steamed out of the station, but Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain were not on board. An Evening Post representative and all the station people can vouch for that. Speculation then begun as to the probable time of their depart-The station officials thought they would leave at 10 o'clock. This was improbable. Then the B. & O. sta-tion was visited. Nothing had been seen there of the wedding party. The re-porters were all puzzled, but, not to be defeated, they agreed to say that the party had left on the 3:40 train, as predicted. Thus it was that people read in the next morning's papers of Mr. Chamberlain's departure for New York. The fact is, that when they left apparently for a bridal tour North, they stole a march on their friends. They went no further than "Chevy Chars," the country seat of Captain Rodgers, in the close vicinity of Washington, where in real English fashion they are enjoying the honeymoon without intrusion. Married to a Foreign Diplomat, Says the Philadelphia Perss correspondent; "One of the most acceptable and successful members of the Diplomatic Corps in Washington during many years before the war was the French Minister, Count de Sartiges, who married Miss Thorndike of Boston, and Mr. Herbert has many other examples.
